

KARON MARTYN, MSN, ANP-BC, AOCNP

Oncology/Hematology
Abington Cancer Care Specialists
Abington Health Physicians

Karon Martyn, MSN earned her Bachelor of Science degree in Nursing in 1998 from Pennsylvania State University. Karon earned her Master of Science degree in Nursing from La Salle University in 2008. Karon served as a staff nurse and nurse practitioner at Fox Chase Cancer Center from 1998 to 2016.

Since 2011, Karon has specialized in Gastrointestinal (GI) medical oncology, working alongside Steven J. Cohen, MD and Crystal Denlinger, MD at Fox Chase Cancer Center. While working at Fox Chase Cancer Center, Karon served on several committees. She was the Nurse Practitioner representative, as well as the chair, of the educational working group for the Advanced Practice Clinicians committee. Karon was a member of the Survivorship Care Plan Task Force Committee, and in 2015, was a member of the Fox Chase Cancer Center fellowship selection committee.

In 2015 Karon presented at two national conferences on metastatic colorectal cancer. The first was the Annual Oncology Nursing Society conference in May 2015. The second was the Annual JADPRO conference in November 2015. Karon has also presented a Webinar on Gallbladder Cancer via nurse.com, viewable from 2013-2015. Additionally, she presented at the Fox Chase Cancer Center Oncologic Emergency Conference on Hypercalcemia.

In June 2015, The Use of Calcium and Magnesium to Prevent Neurotoxicity in Patients Receiving Oxaliplatin, an article Karon co-authored, was published in the Journal of the Advanced Practitioner in Oncology.

She is a member of the Oncology Nursing Society.

She joined Abington Cancer Care Specialists in 2016 along with Dr. Steven J. Cohen, now Chief of Medical Oncology and Director of the Rosenfeld Cancer Center. She is an expert in chemotherapy side effect management. Her personal approach to patient care ties into her firm belief that each patient is more than a number or a statistic. Each and every patient should be treated like family.

Karon is a proud member of Abington Health Physicians, a network of over 200 primary care and specialty physicians.
